

NEWS

The First Short Course of Persian Medicine in Athens, Greece (December 2019)

According to an agreement between School of Persian Medicine at Tehran University of Medical Sciences and Akadimia of Ancient Greek and Traditional Chinese Medicine, the first Persian Medicine short course (4 days) was held in Akadimia (Athens, Greece) (Figure 1). In this short course, Dr. Meysam Shirzad, assistant professor of traditional medicine at Tehran University of medical sciences was the lecturer of the first 2 days (December 7 and 8, 2019) of the course to teach “principles Persian medicine”. The course was continued by the lectures of Dr. Arman Zargaran, assistant professor of traditional pharmacy at Tehran University of medical sciences by the lectures on Herbology, compounding Persian medicine formulations and history at December 14 and 15, 2019 (Figure 2).

Also, Dr. Zargaran, the vice dean for international affairs of school of Persian medicine at Tehran University of medical sciences reported that an Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) was signed between both parties for further collaborations and Greek students will attend in a short course of Persian medicine which will be hosted by Tehran University of medical sciences and Shiraz University of medical sciences in 2020.

AKADIMIA
OF ANCIENT GREEK AND TRADITIONAL
CHINESE MEDICINE

TRADITIONAL PERSIAN (IRANIAN) MEDICINE

Akadimia is active in the international cooperation sector. We invite pious and worthy teachers from every corner of the globe, without bias. We welcome with respect and value the seed of their thinking, reciprocating Greek hospitality. We treat the seed and so, enrich the resources and energy of Akadimia. In this context we are proud to announce a 4-days seminar on Traditional Persian Medicine, taught by Professors of the School of Persian Medicine of the Tehran University of Medical Sciences, Tehran, Iran.

On Saturday and Sunday 7 and 8 of December 2019:
"Principles of Persian Medicine",
Dr. Meisam Shirzad
(MD, PhD of Persian Medicine; Assistant Prof. of traditional medicine at School of Persian Medicine).
Hours 16:00-21:00.

On Saturday and Sunday 14 and 15 of December 2019:
"Herbology, compounding Persian medicine formulations and history",
Dr. Arman Zargaran
(PharmD, PhD of traditional Pharmacy; Assistant prof. of traditional pharmacy & Vice Dean for international affairs at School of Persian Medicine).
Hours 16:00-21:00.

This seminar will be taught in English with immediate translation in Greek

Location: Ymittos, Nimfeou 4, 17237
Cost of participation: 120 € per weekend
(for repayment before 30 November cost 100 € per weekend)

Call center: (0030) 210 8010111, press 1
Address: Ymittos, Nimfeou 4, 17237, Athens, Greece
email: info@akadimia.gr
www.akadimia.gr

266

Figure 1. Announcement for The first short course of Persian Medicine in Athens

Figure 2. The first short course of Persian Medicine in Athens, Greece (December 2019)